

Beth Israel Deaconess
Medical Center

A teaching hospital of
Harvard Medical School

September 26, 2011

Russell S. Phillips, MD
Chief, Division of General Medicine and Primary Care

*Professor,
Harvard Medical School*

Professor Zhiqiang Cui
Oriental Health Care
19 East 37th St., 1FL
New York, NY 10016

Dear Professor Cui:

Thank you very much for visiting Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center at my invitation, to give a demonstration of qigong. The purpose of this demonstration was to familiarize a small group of our faculty with qigong practice. You had been referred to us as a leading expert in the field. As you know, we are developing the Cheng and Tsui Center for Integrative Care and are devising clinical programs that will incorporate the best healing practices from around the world.

Thank you very much for your gracious demonstration. We found it to be very informative.

Sincerely,

Russell S. Phillips, MD
Chief, Division of General Medicine and Primary Care

Professor of Medicine, Harvard Medical School

330 Brookline Avenue, Yamins 111
Boston, MA 02215

ph (617) 667-4916
fax (617) 667-1370
rphillip@bidmc.harvard.edu